SALT LAKE CITY, UT:

Erin Mendenhall, community activist and interim executive director of Breathe Utah, announced her candidacy for Salt Lake City Council District 5 on Thursday.

Citing significant projected population growth over the next two decades, Mendenhall stressed the importance of smart planning to ensure healthy development. She believes the city's top priorities should include:

- Working with local businesses and community leaders to develop a city-wide transportation master plan.
- Enhancing communication between city administration and residents.
- Maintaining safe and clean neighborhoods through community activism and public vigilance.

Erin Mendenhall has lived in District 5 for 15 years. She and her husband Jared are raising their sons Cash and Everett in the Liberty Park area.
